It is not clear if it is right or reasonable to withhold from the institutions their legitimate profit however small. This is a case of investment of trust money and the diversion of any portion of the income of an institution for any other purpose is not defensible and perhaps opposed to law. There seems to be no particular difficulty in apportioning the amount among the institutions and the original purpose of the Mysore Dept seems to be the only proper course to follow in this case.

Order thereon No.

The Comptroller reports that on the conversion of the Mysore Railway 5% Debenture of 1882 belonging to the several Muzrai Institutions the Province into the Govt of India Pro:notes of 1879 to the face Value of Rs 49200/- a profit of Rs 1068-6-4 was realized of which Rs 700 was again invested in Govt Paper and Rs 368-6-4 held in cash and he requests instructions as to how this profit should be distributed among the various ^{mursai} institutions of each District. The In reply to the enquiry made Comptroller was requested as to whether, to report if the sum cannot be distributed pro-rata among the several ^{mursai} institutions to which, the sums consisting of the principal amount of Rs 49,200 belong and if ~~this is~~ ^{that was} inconvenient to suggest any other course that he may consider appropriate ~~reply~~, The Comptroller ~~now~~ reports that the distribution pro-rata will involve very ~ laborious work while the amount which ~ each institution gets will be very small and therefore he suggests that the net profit ~ realized in each District may be credited to the poorest institutions or credited to a head called "Interai Reserve Fund" from which the Govt may sanction all unforeseen charges.

2. Under the ~~existing~~ circumstances ^{brought by type} the Govt direct are pleased to direct that until for the present.

and until a 'Muzrai Fund' is constituted, which is under ~~the~~ consideration, the amount now in question may be kept as 'Muzrai Reserve' as suggested by the

Read: — Correspondence ending with Letter no $\frac{2836}{105}$ d/ 5 5 November 1907 from the Comptroller to the Govt of Mysore ~~and~~ Soliciting instructions in the matter of crediting the profit realized by the conversion of the Mysore Railway 5% Debenture of 1882 belonging to some Murray Institutions into Govt of India Pro. notes

No. 3969-78 d/16.3.08

Order thereon - N:

The Comptroller reported that on the conversion of the Mysore Railway 5% Debenture of 1882 belonging to the Several

Muzrai institutions in the Province into the ~~the~~ ^{first} of India Pro notes of 1879 to the face value of Rs 49,200/- a profit of Rs 1068-6-4 was realized of which Rs 700/- was again invested in Govt Paper and Rs 368-6-4
held in cash and he requested instructions as to how this profit should be distributed among the various Muzrai institutions of each District. In reply to the enquiry made as to whether the sum cannot be distributed pro-rata among the several Muzrai institutions to which the sums consisting of the principal amount of Rs 49,200 belong & if that was inconvenient to suggest any other course that he may consider appropriate, the ~~the~~ Comptroller reports that the distribution pro-rata will involve very laborious work, while the amount which each institution gets will be very small and therefore ~~he~~ suggests that the net profit realized in each District may be credited to the poorest institutions or credited to a head called

"Muxrai Reserve fund from which the Govt may sanction all unforeseen charges.

2. The Govt ~~after careful~~ ~~consideration~~ observe, that it is neither right nor reasonable to withhold from the institutions ~ their legitimate profit however small. This is a case of investment of trust money and the diversion of any portion of the income of an institution for any other purpose is not defensible, ~~and perhaps opposed~~ ~~to law~~. There seems to be no particular difficulty in apportioning the amount among the institutions.

The Govt therefore direct that the amount should
among the several institutions to which the ^{principal} ~~sums consisting~~ ~~of the principal amounts~~ belong.
